Yuefu End User Licence Agreement

Agreement version 1.0 · November 2026

Licensor: AuraLink Studio (GuangDev) - https://auralink.io.vn/ - contact@auralink.io.vn

Please read this agreement before you install or use Yuefu. By installing, activating or using the product you accept it. If you do not accept it, do not install the product; remove every copy you have.

1. What this agreement covers

"Product" means the Yuefu plug-in, the sound banks delivered for it (the recorded instruments, in encrypted form), the licence keys, and any documents and updates that AuraLink Studio supplies for them. The Product is licensed to you. It is not sold.

2. Your licence

When you have paid the fee for a licence (or received a trial licence), AuraLink Studio grants you a personal, non-exclusive, non-transferable right to install and use the Product, within the terms below:

- a) A licence key is issued for one computer, identified by the Machine ID that the plug-in shows. The key works on that computer only.
- b) A licence key opens the sound banks named in it. Other banks stay locked until you hold a licence for them.
- c) A licence is either perpetual or valid until the date written in it (a trial or a subscription). After that date the banks it opened are locked again.
- d) A licence is for one person or, when bought by a company, school or studio, for one workstation of that organisation.

3. Moving a licence to another computer

To move a licence, remove it in the plug-in's Licence panel. The plug-in shows a deactivation code; send it to AuraLink Studio together with the Machine ID of the new computer, and you receive a new key in accordance with the transfer policy in force at that time. A licence that has been removed no longer works on the old computer. The Machine ID stays the same when Windows is reinstalled on the same computer, so a reinstallation does not need a new key.

4. What you may do with the sounds

You may use the Product to compose, perform, record and produce music and sound, and you may publish, broadcast and sell the resulting works, commercially or not, without paying any further fee or royalty to AuraLink Studio. You own the music you make.

5. What you may not do

You may not:

- a) share, lend, rent, resell, sublicense or publish the Product, a sound bank or a licence key, or let another person use your licence key;
- b) extract, decrypt, copy out or convert the recordings in the sound banks, or supply them to anyone as single sounds, samples, loops or a sound library, in any format, whether changed or not;
- c) use the Product or its sounds to make another sample library, virtual instrument, sound set or any competing product;
- d) use the Product, its sounds or recordings of single notes played by it to train, test or improve a machine-learning or artificial-intelligence system that generates or imitates sound, or put them in a data set made for that purpose;
- e) reverse engineer, decompile or disassemble the Product, or remove, bypass or weaken its licence check, encryption or other protection, or help another person to do so, except where the law gives you a right that cannot be excluded by contract;
- f) change or forge a licence key, or alter the Machine ID of a computer to make a key work on it;
- g) remove or change any copyright or trade mark notice.

Music in which the instruments are heard as part of a composition is permitted under section 4. Recordings whose purpose is to hand the single sounds on to others are not.

6. Ownership

The Product, with its software, recordings, sound banks, graphics, names and documents, belongs to AuraLink Studio and its licensors, and is protected by copyright law and international treaties. This agreement gives you a right of use only. All rights not expressly granted are reserved.

7. Licence validation and privacy

The plug-in checks your licence on your own computer. When the computer is connected to the internet, the plug-in may contact AuraLink Studio's licence server (a perpetual licence: at most once a day) to confirm that the licence is still valid and, for a licence with an end date, to read the correct time. The request contains only your licence ID and the Machine ID. The Machine ID is a one-way code derived from your computer's hardware; it holds no personal information and cannot be turned back into details of your computer or its contents. Nothing else is sent. AuraLink Studio keeps a record of which licence and machine checked in on which day, to administer licences and transfers, and does not record your IP address.

A perpetual licence works fully offline: with no internet connection nothing is sent and the licence keeps working. A licence with an end date needs an online time check from time to time, as the plug-in tells you.

AuraLink Studio may revoke a licence that was obtained by fraud, refunded, charged back, or used in breach of this agreement.

8. Updates and support

AuraLink Studio may publish updates and new sound banks, and may make some of them available only under a further licence. Support is given by e-mail, in reasonable measure, for the current version. This agreement also covers updates, unless they come with their own terms.

9. Termination

Your licence ends automatically if you breach this agreement. You must then stop using the Product and delete every copy of it, including the sound banks and licence keys. Sections 5, 6, 10, 11 and 12 continue to apply.

10. No warranty

The Product is provided "as is". To the extent the law allows, AuraLink Studio gives no warranty, express or implied, including warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement, and does not promise that the Product will work without interruption or error or with every host program and computer.

11. Limits of liability

To the extent the law allows, AuraLink Studio and its licensors are not liable for indirect, incidental, special or consequential loss, or for loss of data, profit, business or work, arising from the use of the Product or the impossibility of using it. In every case their total liability is limited to the amount you paid for the licence concerned. Nothing in this agreement removes rights that the consumer law of your country gives you and that cannot be excluded.

12. Law

This agreement is governed by the laws of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam, without regard to its conflict-of-law rules. If a part of this agreement is found invalid, the rest stays in force.

13. General

This agreement is the whole agreement between you and AuraLink Studio about the Product. It is published in English, Chinese and Vietnamese; the three texts have the same meaning.
